Description

The armourdog® secure tablet mount's device compatibility makes it the ideal solution for any display setting whether it's a retail store, corporate office, school lab, restaurant or any open access area. The simple design allows for any mainstream tablet to be secured with minimal interference to the tablet experience. The extendible arm at the rear of the tablet locks in position and is held securely in place with the supplied Kensington style security lock. The 'shoulders' sit corner-to-corner on the tablet and have an inner plastic lining to protect the tablet screen from scratches. The tablet can be rotated 360° for portrait and landscape orientation, and be tilted for the optimum viewing angle. The sturdy base has four screw holes and can be screwed or bolted onto a table or wall for extra security. If you require a security solution for your tablet that offers an unrestricted tablet experience, then the armourdog® secure tablet mount is the perfect solution.
